

Begle, Eileen

After handling tort claims litigation in the Houston City Attorney's office for two years, Eileen joined the Harris County Attorney's Office in 1992 to work with federal civil rights litigation, which eventually led her to concentrate on employment law. She earned her certification in Labor & Employment Law from the Texas Board of Legal Specialization in 2000. Eileen is currently a Senior Assistant County Attorney in the General Counsel Practice Group advising elected and appointed officials. She also leads an initiative aimed at creating efficiency and compliance through effective communication, education, and meaningful dialogue. She has over 20 years of experience as a public speaker on the local, state, and national level and is passionate about public service. Eileen earned an undergraduate degree from the University of St. Mary in Leavenworth, Kansas, a Master's degree in Business Administration from Corpus Christi State University, and her law degree from the University of Houston Law Center.
